

Farewell speech

You have conquered a goal, now conquer your dreams, Anonymous.

Good morning present authorities, teachers, administrative staff, fellow students, and other people who honor us with their presence this morning. First of all, I would like to tell you that I am happy, and that it is an honor for me, to be here on behalf of all my colleagues and to be able to convey a few words to you, not only with joy, but with optimism, thankfulness and motivation.

On this very especial day, we conclude an important stage of our lives, a stage that has allowed us to have unforgettable experiences and meet incredible people. Along the way have known how to be a guide for us at all times. Today we say see you soon to our second home that would have the doors open to us every morning to start a new day of learning. Today we say goodbye to our teachers who have prepared us in the best way to face life. We will say good bye to our colleagues who with little things made our day better.

I can only thank this beautiful institution for promoting in each one of us essential values for life, for allowing us to experience in it the best stage of our student life. During all these years, we have accumulated experiences, moments and memories, in each place of our institution. In the classes, in each one of the classrooms, laboratories, corridors or in one of its multiple stairs.

Who will not remember the first day of class expecting to meet the new classmates? The excitement about going out for breaks, the excitement of having a program with a general dance, celebrating our friends' birthdays, or the nerves before giving an exam.

Without a doubt these memories will always accompany us, this stage will be marked in our hearts and in our minds as the stage that made us better people and allowed us to create eternal friendships. Each of us has left our own mark, either by a presentation in a class, for an answer they gave to a question from a teacher or for that grade we got in a subject, or most importantly, the mark we have left on one another.

Today, we conclude a goal to start another in which we must put into practice everything learned during these years, comply our goals and never give up. I sincerely hope that each of us succeed in what we set out to do. Having always on our way to God, and I hope that life allows us to meet again to give us the hug that conditions do not allow us right now. This is not a goodbye but a see you soon with each of the people who were part of this stage of our lives, Gentlemen-Ladies.
